

EXPLANATORY STATEMENT
AUSTRALIAN CAPITAL TERRITORY
IMPERIAL ACTS (REPEAL) ORDINANCE 1988

No. 94, 1988

INTRODUCTION

The purpose of this Ordinance is to repeal all Imperial Acts in force in the Territory as law of the Territory that are obsolete or otherwise unnecessary.

The Ordinance represents the final stage in implementing the reform of Imperial laws applying in the Territory, as recommended by the Law Reform Commission of the Australian Capital Territory ('ACTLRC') in its Report on Imperial Acts in force in the Australian Capital Territory presented in 1972 and its Supplementary Report presented in 1973.

Those Reports recommended:

- (a) that certain Imperial Acts specified in Appendix 1 Part A of the first of those Reports be preserved in their existing form because of their major constitutional and historical significance;
- (b) that certain Imperial Acts specified in Appendix 1 Part B of the first Report be repealed and replaced by substituted provisions; and
- (c) that all other Imperial Acts in force in the Territory be repealed.

Except as mentioned in the Explanatory Statement circulated in respect of the Imperial Acts Application Ordinance 1986 the recommendation referred to in paragraph (a) above was implemented by that Ordinance. That Statement contains the reasons why certain recommendations of the ACTLRC were not followed in that Ordinance.

Except as mentioned in the Explanatory Statement circulated in respect of the Imperial Acts (Substituted Provisions) Ordinance 1986, the recommendation referred to in paragraph (b) above was implemented by that Ordinance. That Statement contains the reasons why certain recommendations of the ACTLRC were not followed in that Ordinance.

The Explanatory Statement circulated in respect of the Imperial Acts (Substituted Provisions) (Amendment) Ordinance 1987 contains the reasons why substituted provisions have been made in respect of 5 additional Imperial Acts.

Background

Section 6 of the Seat of Government Acceptance Act 1909 provides that all laws in force in the Territory immediately before 1 January 1911 should, so far as applicable, continue in force until other provision is made. The laws so continued in force included those Imperial Acts in force in New South Wales on 31 December 1910 that:

- (a) had come into force in New South Wales at common law on the foundation of the colony;
- (b) had come into force in New South Wales, by virtue of section 24 of the Australian Courts Act 1828, on 25 July 1828 by reason that they were in force in the United Kingdom on that date and were capable of being applied in New South Wales; or
- (c) had been expressly adopted by a New South Wales Act in force in the Territory.

All Imperial Acts adopted by a NSW Act had, before this Ordinance, ceased to be in force in the Territory.

In addition, certain Imperial Acts passed before 1 January 1911 continued in force in the Territory because they applied, by express provision or necessary intendment, throughout the dominions of the Crown.

Certain Imperial Acts passed after 31 December 1910 and before the Statute of Westminster came into force in respect of the Commonwealth on 3 September 1939 were in force in the Territory because they applied throughout the dominions of the Crown.

It became increasingly difficult to identify those Imperial Acts that applied in the Territory. Not only do the criteria set out above give rise to uncertainty, but there is the further difficulty of ascertaining whether "other provision has been made" so as to terminate the operation of an Imperial Act in force pursuant to the Seat of Government Acceptance Act. This Ordinance, and the earlier Ordinances referred to above, are intended to clear away these difficulties.

As mentioned above, the ACTLRC recommended that some Imperial Acts be continued in force in the Territory in their existing form, that others be repealed and substituted provisions be made and that all other Imperial Acts in force in the Territory be repealed.

In addition to consideration of the ACTLRC Reports and independent research; regard was also had to reports and material from other jurisdictions. Subsequent to the ACTLRC Reports, a report was prepared by Gretchen Kewley on the Imperial Acts Application Act 1922 of Victoria; the Law Reform Committee of South Australia presented a series of reports on Imperial Acts in force in South Australia; the Law Reform Commission of Queensland presented a report on Imperial Acts in force in Queensland and a Bill has been introduced into the New Zealand Parliament relating to Imperial Acts in force in New Zealand. This Bill was accompanied by an Explanatory Note on the Bill.

Generally, the principles applicable to the reception of Imperial laws into these jurisdictions (Victoria, South Australia, Queensland and New Zealand) are similar to those applicable to the reception of such laws into the Territory. There are, however, some significant differences between jurisdictions in the statutory provisions governing the reception of Imperial laws, the dates of reception of Imperial laws, and subsequent legislation affecting received Imperial laws.

Accordingly the Victorian, South Australian and Queensland Reports; and the New Zealand Explanatory Note are not necessarily of direct relevance to the Territory, but they provided additional resource material for research into Imperial laws applying in the Territory.

As a result of examination of all these reports, and of independent examination of Imperial Acts that might be in force in the Territory and of Commonwealth Acts passed, and Ordinances made, since the presentation of the Reports of the Law Reform Commission of the Territory, the Imperial Acts (Substituted Provisions) Ordinance 1986, the Imperial Acts (Substituted Provisions) (Amendment) Ordinance 1987 and the Imperial Acts Application Ordinance 1986 were made.

In consequence of the examination so made, there have been some variations from the ACTLRC's recommendations. The nature of, and the reasons for, these variations (including the repeal of Acts the ACTLRC proposed to retain in force) have been set out in the Explanatory Statements circulated in connection with those Ordinances.

As mentioned above, this Ordinance completes implementation of the ACTLRC's recommendations by repealing all Imperial Acts in force in the Territory as laws of the Territory other than those Imperial Acts that continue in force by virtue of the Imperial Acts Application Ordinance 1986 and other Imperial Acts that amend or have otherwise affected the operation of Acts that so continue in force. This Ordinance does not affect the operation of any Imperial Act that applies to the Commonwealth and has effect in the Territory as law of the Commonwealth.

In its Seventy-sixth Report (December 1985) the Senate Standing Committee on Regulations and Ordinances recommended that:

"Any instrument of delegated legislation, including an ACT Ordinance, which is designed to repeal, cancel or terminate any other instrument or law should where possible identify by name that which is to be repealed, cancelled or terminated."

Following consultations between the Committee and officers of the Attorney-General's Department about the practicability of identifying all Imperial laws applying in the ACT, the legal and practical difficulties involved in repealing only listed Acts (in the particular context of the repeal of Imperial laws), the uncertainties that could result from a repeal limited to specific Acts, and alternative means of achieving the purposes of the Committee's recommendation, this Ordinance does not list all Imperial Acts which it repeals. Instead, a list of Imperial Acts that may possibly have been in force in the Territory as law of the Territory prior to this Ordinance together with explanatory notes, is at Attachment "B".

If either House of Parliament resolves that any Imperial Act which is repealed by this Ordinance should continue in force in the ACT, that Act will by Ordinance be restored to be in force in the Territory to the same extent that it was in force before this Ordinance.

Details of the Ordinance are set out in Attachment "A".

DETAILS OF ORDINANCE

NOTES ON SECTIONS

Section 1 provides that the Ordinance may be cited as the Imperial Acts (Repeal) Ordinance 1988.

Section 2 defines:

applied Imperial Act as an Imperial Act that extended to the Territory of its own force, or that was in force in New South Wales on 31 December 1910, and is in force in the Territory by virtue of section 6 of the Seat of Government Acceptance Act 1909.

commencing date as the date on which notice of the Ordinance having been made was published in the Gazette.

continued applied Imperial Act as an applied Imperial Act the citation of which is specified in Schedule 1 or 2 of the Imperial Acts Application Ordinance 1986 or in subsection 4(1) of that Ordinance (not being an Act that ceased to be in force in the Territory before the commencing date by virtue of subsection 4(2) or (3) of that Ordinance).

Imperial Act as a public Act of England, Great Britain or the United Kingdom, as the case may be, enacted between 1235 and 1939.

The section also provides that a reference to a part of the law of the Territory shall not include a reference to a part of the law of the Commonwealth in its application in the Territory.

Section 3 provides that subject to the Ordinance, every applied Imperial Act that is not a continued applied Imperial Act ceases to be in force in the Territory as part of the law of the Territory.

Section 4 continues in force in the Territory an applied Imperial Act that would otherwise be repealed if it repealed, confirmed, revived or perpetuated a continued applied Imperial Act but only to the extent that it so repealed, confirmed, revived or perpetuated that continued applied Imperial Act and while that continued applied Imperial Act continues in force in the Territory.

The section also makes similar provision with respect to an applied Imperial Act that would otherwise be repealed if it repealed, confirmed, revived or perpetuated an applied Imperial Act that is continued in force by virtue of the application of subsection 4(1) or (2).

Section 5 continues in force in the Territory an applied Imperial Act that would otherwise be repealed if it amends a continued applied Imperial Act that so extends to the Territory but only to the extent that it amends that Act and while that Act continues to be in force in the Territory.

Section 6 provides that nothing in this Ordinance affects the operation in the Territory of an Imperial Act that extends to, or has effect in, the Commonwealth as part of the law of the Commonwealth.

Section 7 contains savings provisions, corresponding with section 38 of the Interpretation Ordinance 1967, saving things done, rights acquired and liabilities incurred under an Imperial Act that ceases to be in force in the Territory as part of the law of the Territory by virtue of the Ordinance.

The section also provides that the ceasing of an Imperial Act, or a part of an Imperial Act, to be in force in the Territory does not affect any rule of law or equity in force in the Territory otherwise than by virtue of that Act or that part of that Act, and that, notwithstanding the ceasing of the Calendar (New Style) Act 1750 to be in force in the Territory, years (including leap years), months and days shall continue to occur and be reckoned according to the Calendar established by that Act.

Section 8 provides for an Imperial Act that continues in force in the Territory by virtue of section 4 or 5 of the Ordinance to be administered, in its application in the Territory, by the Minister of State who administers the continued applied Imperial Act that it repealed, confirmed, revived, perpetuated or amended, as the case may be.

ATTACHMENT B

TABLE OF IMPERIAL ACTS THAT MAY HAVE BEEN IN FORCE AS LAWS OF THE AUSTRALIAN CAPITAL TERRITORY PRIOR TO THE ORDINANCE BUT IF SO IN FORCE HAVE BY VIRTUE OF THE ORDINANCE CEASED TO BE IN FORCE, IN WHOLE OR IN PART, AS LAWS OF THE AUSTRALIAN CAPITAL TERRITORY

Explanatory Notes

1. This Table contains lists of those Imperial Acts that may have been in force in the Territory as law of the Territory, immediately before the commencement of this Ordinance. Accordingly, it does not include Imperial Acts that:

- (a) are being continued in force in the Territory either as they first came into force in the Territory or as amended (see the Imperial Acts Application Ordinance 1986); or
- (b) have previously been repealed (for example, by the Imperial Acts (Substituted Provisions) Ordinance 1986).

2. Imperial Act 9 Geo.4 c.83 (Australian Courts Act 1828) extended to New South Wales, as laws of New South Wales, all Imperial Acts in force in England on 25 July 1828 so far as they could be applied within the Colony. Imperial Acts enacted before 25 July 1828 and in force on that date have been included in this Table unless they are known to have:

- (a) been repealed by, or are inconsistent with, New South Wales Acts enacted before 1 January 1911;
- (b) been repealed by, or are inconsistent with, Ordinances of the Territory;
- (c) been repealed by, or are inconsistent with, Acts of the Commonwealth; or
- (d) only local application within the United Kingdom or another dominion or colony and there appears to be no possible basis on which they could be regarded as capable of having applied in New South Wales on 25 July 1828.

3. Imperial Acts enacted after 9 Geo.4 c.83 have been included in this Table:

- (a) if they are expressed to extend to the possessions of the Crown outside the United Kingdom; or
- (b) if there appears to be a possible intendment that they are so to extend;

unless they are inconsistent with Acts of the Commonwealth or Ordinances of the Territory.

4. This Table does not purport to be authoritative or exhaustive. It should not be taken to express the view, official or otherwise, that any particular Imperial Act listed in the Table was, either in whole or in part, in force in the Territory as law of the Territory immediately before the commencement of the Imperial Acts (Repeal) Ordinance 1988. It is likely that some of the Acts included in the Table have never been in force in the Territory or have ceased, before this Ordinance, to be in force in the Territory.

5. The approach adopted in preparation of this Ordinance and the Ordinances referred to in the Explanatory Statement has been to focus in the first instance on whether or not it is desirable or necessary that a particular Imperial Act be in force in the Territory, and then to consider whether the Act was in force. Accordingly, in many instances, where an Act was clearly obsolete and inappropriate to the Territory, further research was not undertaken to determine whether or not the Act was in force.

6. Generally any Act mentioned in any of the Reports or Explanatory Notes referred to in this Explanatory Statement has been included in the following Table unless -

- . it is still in force in the Territory;
- . a clear opinion has been formed that it was not in force in the Territory immediately prior to this Ordinance; or
- . it cannot be identified with any Act listed in "Chronological Table of Statutes" (see para 11 below).

7. This Table deals only with Imperial Acts that may apply as laws of the Territory. It does not deal with Imperial Acts that may have effect in the Territory by reason that they apply to the whole of the Commonwealth. Consequently, Imperial Acts not included in the Table as well as Imperial Acts included in the Table may be in force in the Territory as law of the Commonwealth. (See section 6 of the Imperial Acts (Repeal) Ordinance 1988).

8. Not surprisingly, in view of the antiquity of many of the Acts concerned, there are deficiencies and discrepancies in the extant records of many statutes.

9. In particular -

- . early statutes are attributed by different compilers to different Kings or different regnal years; and
- . there has been disagreement whether some texts are in fact statutes.

(Incidentally, it appears that some Acts have been repealed twice, and some have been amended after being repealed).

10. Accordingly, in the interests of consistency, Imperial Acts are referred to in the column headed "Year and Citation", by the years and citations under which they are listed in "Chronological Table of Statutes", Part I, published by Her Majesty's Stationery Office in 1985. The differences occurring in different publications of Imperial Statutes over the years, (such as the same Act being printed with different years of enactment and different citations), have been reflected in the Australian Reports and the New Zealand Explanatory Note referred to in this Statement with the result that an Act referred to in this Table by one year and citation may be referred to by a different year and citation in one of these reports or in the Explanatory Note.

11. Indeed, Appendix A to the New Zealand Explanatory Note refers to some Imperial Acts that cannot be identified with any Act listed in "Chronological Table of Statutes". None of those Acts are listed in the table.

12. In the column headed "Subject Matter", there has been set out, opposite to the citation of an Imperial Act in the first column of the Table, a brief description of matter with which the Act deals or, if part only of the Act may be in force as law of the Territory, a brief description of the matter with which that part deals. This description will enable an Act to be located in a report which refers to the Act by a different citation.

14. For ease of reference, the following Acts are grouped according to the report, or the NZ Explanatory Note in which they are cited. Acts which are referred to in more than one Report are listed only under whichever of those Reports appears first in the Table. Acts which are not cited in any Report or in the Explanatory Note are also listed.

15. The Table is divided into Parts as follows:

- . Part 1 contains Acts referred to in the Report of the Law Reform Commission of the Australian Capital Territory on Imperial Acts in Force in the Australian Capital Territory or the Supplementary Report of the Law Reform Commission of the Australian Capital Territory on Imperial Acts in Force in the Australian Capital Territory.
- . Part 2 contains Acts not listed in Part 1 which are referred to in the Report of the Law Reform Commission of Queensland in relation to an examination of the Imperial Statutes in force in Queensland.
- . Part 3 contains Acts not listed in Parts 1 and 2 which are referred to in the Report of the Law Reform Committee of South Australia on Imperial Acts in force in South Australia.

. Part 4 contains Acts not listed in Parts 1, 2 or 3 which are referred to in the Explanatory Note circulated with the Imperial Laws Application Bill 1986 of New Zealand.

. Part 5 contains Acts identified in independent investigations which are not listed in any of the above-mentioned reports or the Explanatory Note.

16. All the Imperial Acts referred to in the other reports that have been examined, namely:

Report on the Application of Imperial Laws by the Law Reform Commission of New South Wales

Report on the Imperial Acts Application Act 1922 of Victoria by Gretchen Kewley are referred to in the reports that have formed the basis of Parts 1, 2 and 3 of this Table.
