

AUSTRALIAN CAPITAL TERRITORY

Statutory Offices (Miscellaneous Provisions) Act 1994

No. 97 of 1994

An Act to amend various Acts and regulations in relation to statutory offices, and for related purposes

[Notified in ACT Gazette S280: 15 December 1994]

The Legislative Assembly for the Australian Capital Territory enacts as follows:

PART I—PRELIMINARY

Short title

1. This Act may be cited as the Statutory Offices (Miscellaneous Provisions) Act 1994.

Commencement

2. (1) Section 1 and this section commence on the day on which this Act is notified in the Gazette.

(2) The remaining provisions commence on a day, or respective days, fixed by the Minister by notice in the Gazette.

(3) If a provision referred to in subsection (2) has not commenced before the end of the period of 6 months commencing on the day on which this Act is notified in the Gazette, that provision, by force of this subsection, commences on the first day after the end of that period.

PART II—AMENDMENT OF LEGISLATION

Statutory appointments

3. (1) The Acts specified in Part 1 of the Schedule are amended as set out in that Part.

(2) The regulations specified in Part 2 of the Schedule are amended as set out in that Part.

PART III—TRANSITIONAL AND SAVINGS

Interpretation

4. In this Part—

“amended legislation” means legislation amended by this Act;

“commencement day”, in relation to amended legislation, means the date of commencement of the amendments to that legislation effected by this Act;

“continuing statutory office” means a statutory office corresponding to a relevant Government Service office, irrespective of whether the title of the statutory office is changed by the operation of this Act;

“previous officer” means a person who has occupied, or acted in, a continuing statutory office or a previous statutory office under amended legislation before the commencement day;

“previous statutory office” means a statutory office the functions of which are assigned to a continuing statutory office by the operation of this Act;

“relevant Government Service office” means an office in the Government Service the creation and maintenance of which is provided for by the operation of this Act.

Statutory offices

5. Where, immediately before the commencement day, an office or offices existed in the Government Service the duties of which included performing the functions of—

- (a) a continuing statutory office under amended legislation; or
- (b) a previous statutory office the functions of which are assigned to a continuing statutory office under amended legislation by the operation of this Act;

the duty of a Chief Executive under the amended legislation (as amended by this Act) to create a relevant Government Service office corresponding to the continuing statutory office is to be taken to be performed.

Appointments to statutory offices

6. (1) A previous officer who, immediately before the commencement day, was a public servant occupying or acting in a continuing statutory office under amended legislation is, on and after that day, to be taken to be occupying or acting in (as the case may be) a relevant Government Service office corresponding to the continuing statutory office.

(2) A previous officer who, immediately before the commencement day, was a public servant occupying or acting in a previous statutory office under amended legislation is, on and after that day, to be taken to be occupying or acting in (as the case may be) a relevant Government Service office corresponding to the continuing statutory office to which the functions of the previous statutory office are assigned by the operation of this Act.

(3) A previous officer other than a public servant who, immediately before the commencement day, was appointed to a continuing statutory office under amended legislation is, on and after that day, to be taken to be appointed to that office by the relevant Chief Executive under the amended legislation as amended by this Act.

Delegations

7. Nothing in the amendments to legislation effected by this Act is to be taken to affect the continuing validity of a delegation made before the commencement day by a previous officer.

Actions

8. Nothing in the amendments to legislation effected by this Act is to be taken to affect the continuing validity of anything done (including an action taken or decision made) by a previous officer before the commencement day.

Identity cards

9. (1) An identity card issued to a previous officer under amended legislation which he or she was entitled to hold immediately before the commencement day is, on or after that day, to be taken to be an identity card issued to him or her under that legislation, in his or her capacity as a person performing the functions of the relevant continuing statutory office.

(2) In subsection (1)—

“identity card”, in relation to a continuing statutory office, includes a certificate of appointment or any other documentary evidence of authorisation provided for in relation to the appointment to, or the performance of the functions of, that office under the amended legislation.
