the Territory shall pay out of the trust account an amount of bond in accordance with the application.

Disputes as to whole or part of bond

35. (1) Where a tenant or lessor who has been given notice of an application under section 33 notifies the Territory in writing within 14 working days after being given the notice that he or she disputes the application, the Territory shall, subject to subsection (3), refer the application and notice of dispute to the Registrar as a tenancy dispute.

(2) Where a notice of dispute referred to in subsection (1) relates to only part of an amount of bond claimed, the Territory shall, before referring the application and notice of dispute to the Registrar, release to the appropriate person so much of the amount of the bond as is not in dispute.

(3) Nothing in subsection (1) requires the Territory to refer an application and notice of dispute to the Registrar if the application is in accordance with an order of the Tribunal specifying that money is to be paid from an amount of bond.

PART IV—TERMINATION OF RESIDENTIAL TENANCY AGREEMENTS

Division 1—General

(3) In considering how much compensation is appropriate for the purposes of subsection (2), the Tribunal shall take into consideration whether the lessor reasonably believed that the premises had been abandoned by the tenant.

(4) Where an offender referred to in subsection (2) is not the lessor but is acting on behalf of a lessor with the lessor’s consent, the Tribunal shall make any order for compensation that it would otherwise have made against the offender against the lessor.

(5) For the purposes of this section, the following possession is prescribed:

- (a) possession under a residential tenancy agreement;
- (b) possession as a former tenant continuing to reside in the premises.

the Tribunal shall order that the agreement be terminated at a specified time within 2 weeks after the making of the decision to terminate the tenancy.

and
- (c) the tenant does not vacate the premises;

the lessor may apply to the Tribunal for a waiver of the defect in the notice or in the service of the notice and for the making of a termination and possession order.

(2) The Tribunal shall not waive a defect in a termination notice or its service and make a termination and possession order unless satisfied that the defect did not, and is not likely to, place the tenant in a significantly worse position than the tenant would have been in had the notice been in, and served in, accordance with the prescribed terms.

Tenant's defective termination notice

60. (1) Where a tenant purports to serve a termination notice on a lessor and vacates the premises in accordance with the notice, notwithstanding that the notice is not in the prescribed form—

- (a) the residential tenancy agreement terminates on the vacation of the premises in accordance with the notice; and
- (b) the former lessor may apply to the Tribunal for compensation for the tenant's abandonment of the premises.

(2) The Tribunal shall award compensation to a person who makes an application referred to in paragraph (1) (b) unless satisfied that the person was not in a significantly worse position by reason of the defect in the notice than he or she would have been had the notice been in the prescribed form.

Division 6—Abandonment of premises

Effect of abandonment

61. Where a tenant abandons premises which he or she occupies under a residential tenancy agreement, the agreement terminates on the day of abandonment.

Abandonment during fixed term

62. (1) Where a tenant abandons premises before the expiration of a fixed term agreement, the former lessor may apply to the Tribunal for the following compensation:

- (a) compensation for the loss of the rent which the former lessor would have received had the tenancy agreement continued to the end of its term;

- (b) compensation for the reasonable costs of advertising the premises for lease and of giving a right to occupy the premises to another person.
- (2) On application, the Tribunal may award compensation of the kind referred to in paragraphs (1) (a) and (b).
- (3) The amount of compensation the Tribunal may award—
 - (a) under paragraph (1) (a) shall not exceed an amount equal to 25 weeks rent; and
 - (b) under paragraph (1) (b) shall not exceed an amount equal to 1 weeks rent.
- (4) In determining the amount of compensation that may be awarded under subsection (2) in relation to costs, the Tribunal shall have regard to when, but for the abandonment of the premises—
 - (a) the residential tenancy agreement would have expired; and
 - (b) the lessor would have incurred the costs referred to in paragraph (1) (b).

Abandonment during periodic agreement

63. Where a tenant abandons premises of which he or she has possession under a periodic agreement, the former lessor may claim from the former tenant compensation of an amount equivalent to 3 weeks rent.

 - (b) within a period of 8 weeks after becoming so entitled, giving the tenant not less than 8 weeks notice to vacate the premises.
- (2) A notice under subsection (1) shall be in the prescribed form.

(3) Where a person has given notices under subsection (1), the relevant residential tenancy agreement shall terminate on the expiration of the period of 8 weeks after the date of the notice referred to in paragraph (1) (b) or on such later date as is specified in the notice.

PART V—RENTAL RATE INCREASES

Waiver of notice requirements

65. (1) The Tribunal may hear an application for the review of a rental rate increase notwithstanding that the application is made less than 14 days before the day on which the proposed increase is due to come into effect, if the Tribunal is satisfied that—

- (a) the application is late due to special circumstances; and
- (b) to hear the application will not place the lessor in a significantly worse position than the lessor would have been had the applicant applied as prescribed.

(2) Where a tenant vacates premises as a result of a rental rate increase but fails to give the lessor notice of intention to vacate premises in the prescribed form, the Tribunal may, on application by the tenant or former tenant, treat the notice as having been given in the prescribed form if satisfied that—

- (a) the failure to give notice in the prescribed form is a result of special circumstances; and
- (b) to treat notice as having been so given will not put the lessor in a significantly worse position than if notice had been given properly.

Freezing rents

66. Where an application for review of a rental rate increase has been made but not determined no increase in the rental rate shall occur unless allowed by the Tribunal.

Orders

67. The Tribunal may make the following orders in relation to an application for review of a rental rate increase:

- (a) an order allowing the increase applied for or such other increase as the Tribunal considers just;
- (b) an order disallowing the increase;
- (c) an order disallowing part of the increase.

Guideline for orders

68. (1) The Tribunal shall allow a rental rate increase that is in accordance with the prescribed terms unless the increase is excessive.

(2) For the purpose of subsection (1)—

- (a) unless the tenant satisfies the Tribunal otherwise, a rental rate increase is not excessive if it is less than 20% greater than any increase in the Index number over the period since the last rental rate increase or since the beginning of the lease (whichever is later); and
- (b) unless the lessor satisfies the Tribunal otherwise, a rental rate increase is excessive if it is more than 20% greater than any increase in the Index number over the period since the last rental rate increase or since the beginning of the lease (whichever is later).

(3) Where a tenant or lessor proposes that a rental rate increase is or is not excessive, the Tribunal, in considering whether it is satisfied as to the proposal, shall consider the following matters:

- (a) the rental rate before the proposed increase;
- (b) if the lessor previously increased the rental rate while the relevant tenant was tenant—
 - (i) the amount of the last increase before the proposed increase; and
 - (ii) the period since that increase;
- (c) outgoings or costs of the lessor in relation to the premises;
- (d) services provided by the lessor to the tenant;
- (e) the value of fixtures and goods supplied by the lessor as part of the tenancy;
- (f) the state of repair of the premises;
- (g) rental rates for comparable premises;
- (h) the value of any work performed or improvements carried out by the tenant with the lessor's consent;
- (j) any other matter the Tribunal considers relevant.

(4) Where the Tribunal considers a proposed rental rate increase is excessive but a lesser increase would not be, it may disallow so much of the increase as is excessive.

(5) In subsection (2)—

“Index number” means the Consumer Price Index (Privately-owned dwelling rents expenditure class) for Canberra published from time to time by the Australian Statistician.

Effect of orders

69. (1) Where the Tribunal makes an order under paragraph 67 (a) or (c), the rental rate increase takes effect from the date on which the proposed increase would, but for section 66, have taken place.

(2) The Tribunal may, on application, grant a tenant time to pay rent owed by virtue of the operation of subsection (1).

(3) Where—

- (a) the Tribunal makes an order referred to in paragraph 67 (b) or (c); and
- (b) notwithstanding section 66, the tenant has paid the lessor the full amount of the rental rate increase proposed by the lessor;

the Tribunal may order the lessor to pay to the tenant the difference between the amount the tenant paid to the lessor and the amount that was payable.

Further increases

70. Where a proposed rental rate increase has been reviewed by the Tribunal, any further purported increase in the rental rate for a period of 12 months after the day on which the proposed increase was to take effect shall be void.

Reduction of existing rent

71. (1) On application by a tenant, the Tribunal shall order a reduction in the rental rate payable under a residential tenancy agreement if it considers that the tenant’s use or enjoyment of the premises has diminished significantly as a result of any of the following:

- (a) the loss or diminished utility of an appliance, furniture, a facility or a service supplied by the lessor with the premises as a result of—
 - (i) the withdrawal of the appliance, furniture, facility or service by the lessor;

- (ii) the failure by the lessor to maintain the premises and any appliance, furniture or facility supplied with the premises in a reasonable state of repair, having regard to their condition at the commencement of the residential tenancy agreement; or
 - (iii) the failure by the lessor to provide and maintain such locks or other security devices as are necessary to ensure that the premises are reasonably secure;
- (b) the loss of the use of all or part of the premises;
- (c) interference with the tenant's quiet enjoyment of the premises or the tenant's ability to use the premises in reasonable peace, comfort and privacy by the lessor or any person claiming through the lessor or having an interest in, or title to, the premises.
- (2) A reduction in the rental rate ordered under subsection (1) shall—
- (a) take effect from the day on which the tenant's use or enjoyment of the premises diminished, or such later date as the Tribunal specifies; and
 - (b) remain in force for such period, not exceeding 12 months, as is specified by the Tribunal.
- (3) The Tribunal may order a lessor to pay to the tenant the difference between the rent paid and the rent payable as a result of an order for a rental rate reduction.
- (4) Any purported increase in the rental rate in relation to premises for which a reduction order is in force shall be void and any amount paid above and beyond the reduced rental rate in accordance with a purported increase shall be a debt due by the lessor to the tenant.
