Schedule 1 - CIT's 2008 Schedule of Fees and Concessions:

The 2008 standard fee schedule for public access courses and programs is as follows:

❑ A Registration Fee of $7.26 per registered 'billing point'
  (includes the 10% fee increase from $6.60)

Billing points are calculated as follows:

❑ The 'billing hours' value currently associated with each course in the CATALOG module is divided by five (5).

❑ The result of this division is rounded-up to the next whole number to determine the billing points for that program.

❑ For very short courses a minimum billing point value of two (2) will be applied.

The following examples show how billing points and fees are calculated for some typical CIT courses:

Example 1: A course with 254 billing hours:

Divide billing hours by five	=	$^{254}/_5$
	=	50.8
Billing Points	=	51
Multiplied by $7.26 per billing point	=	$370.26

Example 2: A course with 6 billing hours:

Apply the minimum value to billing hours	=	10
Divide adjusted billing hours by five	=	$^{10}/_5$
	=	2.0
Billing Points	=	2
Multiplied by $7.26 per billing point	=	$14.52

Schedule 2 - CIT's 2009 Schedule of Fees and Concessions:

The 2009 standard fee schedule for public access courses and programs is as follows:

❑ A Registration Fee of $7.99 per registered 'billing point'
(includes the 10% fee increase from $7.26)

Billing points are calculated as follows:

❑ The 'billing hours' value currently associated with each course in the CATALOG module is divided by five (5).

❑ The result of this division is rounded-up to the next whole number to determine the billing points for that program.

❑ For very short courses a minimum billing point value of two (2) will be applied.

The following examples show how billing points and fees are calculated for some typical CIT courses:

Example 1:   A course with 254 billing hours:

$$\text{Divide billing hours by five} \quad = \quad {}^{254}/_{5}$$

$$= \quad 50.8$$

$$\text{Billing Points} \quad = \quad 51$$

$$\text{Multiplied by $7.99 per billing point} \quad = \quad $407.49$$

Example 2:   A course with 6 billing hours:

$$\text{Apply the minimum value to billing hours} \quad = \quad 10$$

$$\text{Divide adjusted billing hours by five} \quad = \quad {}^{10}/_{5}$$

$$= \quad 2.0$$

$$\text{Billing Points} \quad = \quad 2$$

$$\text{Multiplied by $7.99 per billing point} \quad = \quad $15.98$$
